News

- Finally some normality for business

when Industrial Development Vest invited to a breakfast meeting.

The liquor bottles were tight, there was a lot of space between the chairs, and the remote was often washed, but the optimism was greater than the corona fear when seven local companies presented themselves in the Steam. The recipe for breakfast meeting for Industrial Development Development West (IUV) is simple and effective.

There is some food, some mingling and a series of short company presentations.

little contact between people, some normalcy is good.

Huge effort Fleile Strilen talked to, saying that the collection of the previous week was especially welcome. After months of

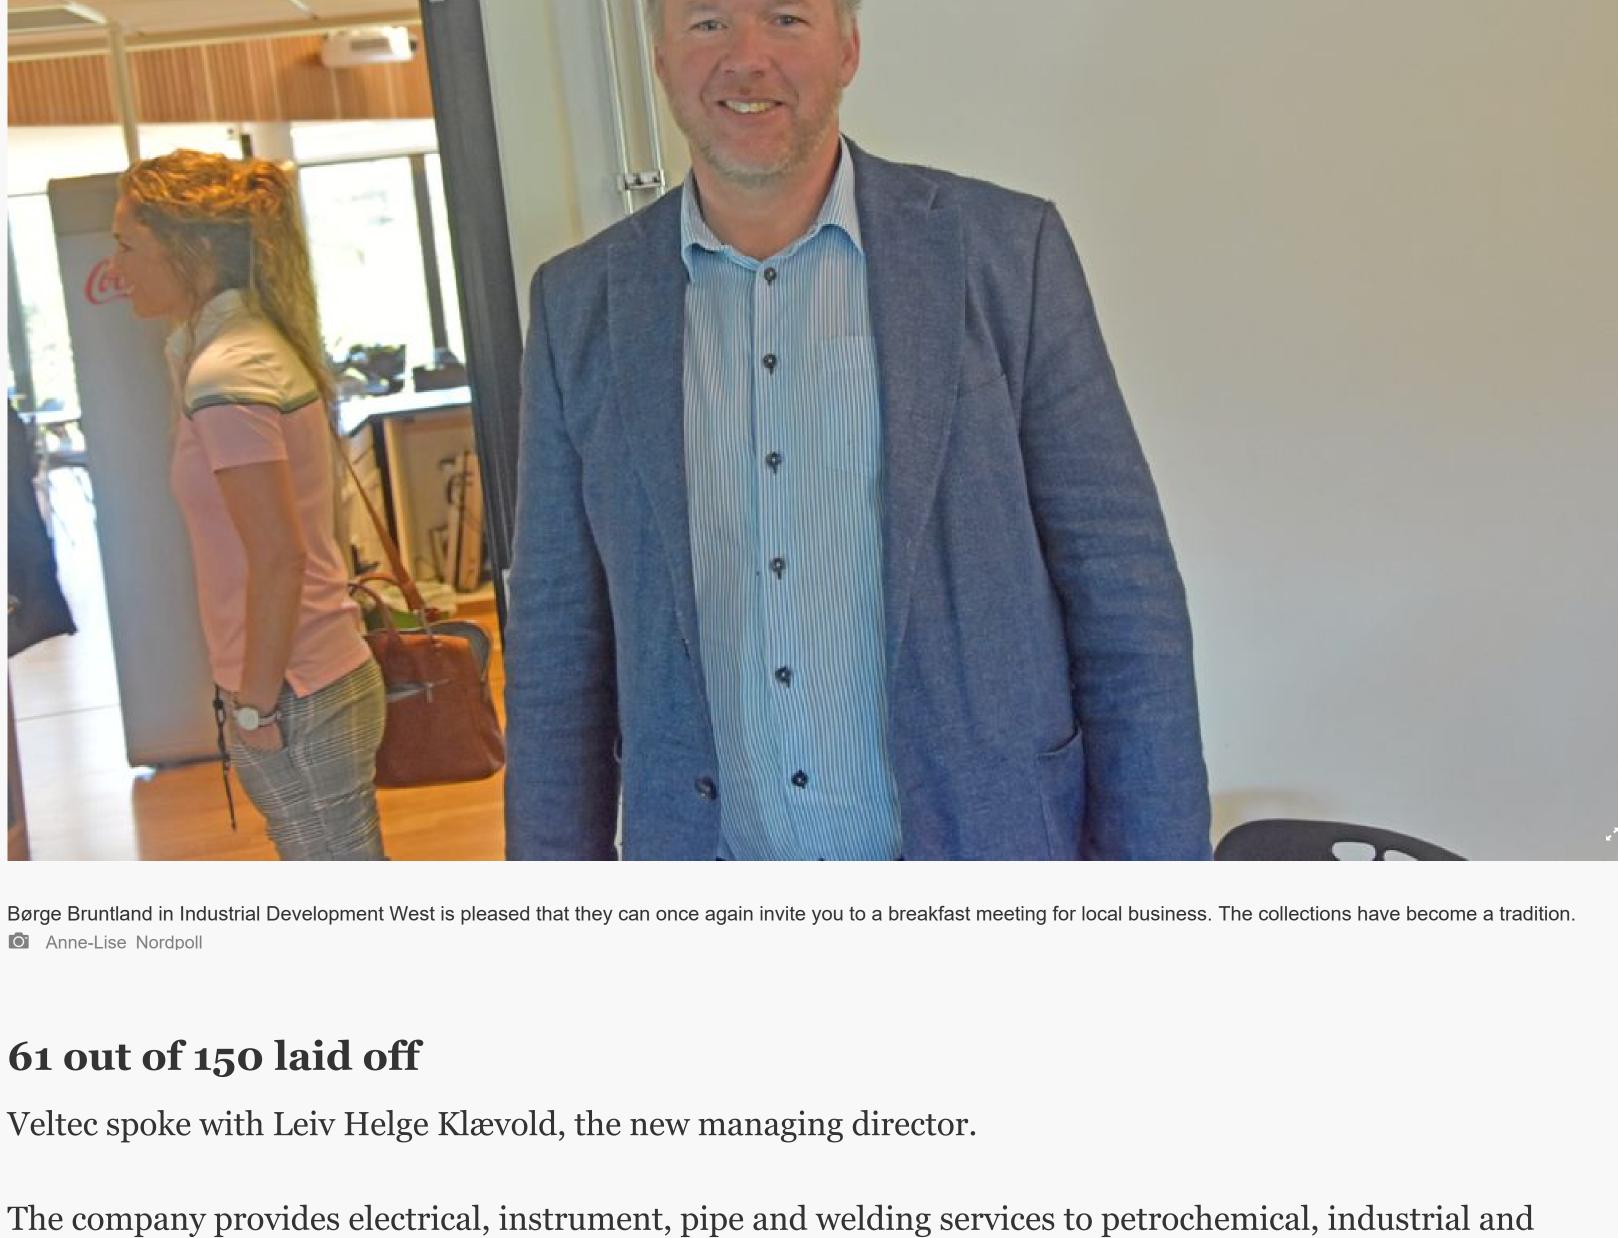

- For our part, I can report huge efforts from companies and entrepreneurs. Some days have arranged for up to five meeting agreements with Innovation Norway for the day, says Børge Bruntland in IUV to Strilen.

IUV helps companies and entrepreneurs take new steps, apply for support and build networks. One important point of their collections is to show the breadth of the local business community.

This time, Veltec, Avisa Nordhordland, Reklamehuset Production, Dynaplan, Vestnorsk Brunnboring AS and Construction & Industrial Engineering were invited to present themselves.

energy markets. 150 of a total of 1,000 employees work at Mongstad, where the corona crisis has been very noticeable.

- Today, 61 out of 150 are laid off, but the activity is picking up again. The goal is for everyone to be back to work during the fall, says Klævold.

Veltec has experienced revenue growth in recent years. Last year they still reached 620 million, up from 300 million from the previous year.

- What is most exciting now is whether I get a new contract at Mongstad base. That contact is important to us, says Klævold.

Yngve Sæterstøl in West Norwegian well drilling tells of increased assignment volume, also during the corona crisis.

Construction and Industrial Engineering has stopped at Mjåtveit industrial park since 2015, and plans to expand its premises.

for us, says Myrtveit.

Good at home office

Dynøy plan from Radøy was presented as a hidden gem.

usual.

Anne-Lise Nordpoll

Increase activity

Deutsche bahn, Lufthansa, BMW and Audi on the customer list. They have developed digital tools that help large companies analyze and manage risks and opportunities.

- All our employees work from home office. I have good experience with that, and so it was not the big changes

The company, which Magne Myrtveit started from the attic stove, is little known in Norway, but has both

Avisa Nordhordland and Reklamehuset also note the consequences of the corona crisis, but believe that the Western Norwegian wellbore could report an increase in the number of missions, even during the crisis. While

During the first weeks, the restrictions made it difficult for service cars to travel around. Now they can ride as good developments they experienced before the crisis will continue when the storm has subsided.

daily camps in Construction & Industrial Engineering talked about approximating normal activity.

k personalplanlegging (leiande aktor sk økonomisk planlegging .d. pasientkøane)

He himself did not predict the corona crisis, but Myrtveit expected the company to get through it.

Varsam poster by the Norwegian Press Federation. If readers feel that Strilen has committed an overtramp, please contact editor Eirik Langeland Fjeld.

The print is edited in accordance with Norwegian legislation, the principles embodied in the Ver editorial poster and the

Privacy Policy Cookies

EDITORIAL TIPS: 97 15 10 20 CENTRAL TABLE: 56 34 30 30 Editors: redaksjonen@strilen.no Advertise: annonse@strilen.no Subscription: avisa@strilen.no Strilen

Responsible editor:

Marknad Manager:

Heidi V. Villanger

Eirik Langeland Fjeld

5914 Isdalstø Didn't get the newspaper?

Hagellia 4, 5914 Isdalstø

Visiting address:

Mailing address:

Strilen, Hagellia 4

Send an email to avisa@strilen.no or call Strilen on 56 34 30 30 Monday-Friday 8am to 4pm. Saturday: send SMS or call 97 15 10 20 Billing address: Strilen, Pb. 8956, 7439 Trondheim, org.no: 950 231 998

mail (pdf): invoice.8957@kollektor.no